Scores of the Games Played Yesterday by the Clubs of the American Association-Fine Racing Over the Louisville Course.

CHICAGO, May 17 .- The Chicagos won easily to-day, because they hit Sowders's delivery bard in the last four innings of the game, while the Bostons found Krock a puzzle throughout. Nash made both runs scored by Boston, one on a scratch hit, a passed ball and two put-outs, and the other on a slow hit to Burns, that war, (tmbled, a steal, a put-out and Hornur, single. Both teams supported their pitchers in fine style, the catfielding of Brown, Johnson and Ryan being especially good, as was the infield work of Pfeffer and Anson. Lynch's umpiring was bad, as it has been in all the games in which he has officiated here, but his mistakes were impartially distributed. The attendance was about 5,000. A slight rain fell throughout the time of play-

PITTSBURG, May 17 .- There was a general kick when umpire Valentine called to-day's game at the close of the ninth inning. Both captains were objecting, and the 1,500 people present did not enjoy that close to an exciting contest. The fact was that the local team had begun to get used to the seductive twists of Mr. Keefe, and it looked as if they might win with another chance. The game seemed lost when the New Yorks made their three runs in the second inning. The Pittsburgs did great work in the field, and to Sunday's and Fields's base running is due two of the runs gained by the home team. Both Galvin and Keefe pitched well. Valentine's lack of acquaintance with the atmosphere caused the calling of the game. The score:

Seldom has the club experienced such bad luck with the elements as this year. cool, threatening weather having prevailed since the opening day. The racing has been of unusual excellence, the fields being large and composed of the best horses in the West and South. To-day was no exception, and despite the unfavorable conditions the betting was lively and the interest manifested great. Only two of the favorites passed under the wire first, Grisette in the first race surprising the knowing ones by badly defeating Persimmons, which was a prime favorite. White Nose, a 6 to 1 chance, did likewise in the third race, beating The Chevalier, Huntress and Long Roll, while Alpena, a fine-looking King Alfonso filly of the Melbourne stable, a 12 to I opportunity, easily won from the favorite and a large field in the last race. The leading event, the Alexander stakes for two year-old colts, was won handily by Proctor Knott. The time, considering the track, which was rough and sticky in places, was fair.

MRS. GRANT AND THE METHODISTS. The General's Widow Meets Old Campaigners Who Fought on Southern Fields.

New York World. The front door of the famous house, No. 3 West Sixty-sixth street, stood wide open yesterday afternoon, and from the steps came the sound of the tramp of feet. Mrs. Gen. Grant sent word in the morning to the Methodist delegates who are attending the conference that she would gladly receive such of their numbers as had served under the General, and if they would give her two hours' notice she would agree to give them something better to eat than he had been able to do on the battle-fields. To this announcement was added, unintentionally or otherwise, the statement that Mrs Grant had expected them on Saturday last and had ordered a barrel of ice cream, which had nearly killed the family in their efforts to keep it from being Promptly at 5:30 the veterans were gathered at the Opera-house. A few minutes later they were walking in solemn file through Central Park, and a few minutes more found them ascending the steps. One careful gentleman held the procession while he removed his rubbers and placed them side by side on the upper front steps, while the man who brought up the tail of the procession calmly removed his broadbrimmed hat, fished out a pocket comb and combed his hair. Gen. Clinton B. Fisk grouped the 104 gentlemen in the front drawing-room and then all waited for Mrs. Grant. Col. Grant stood in the hall at the foot of the stairs awaiting his mother and chatting pleasantly with those about him.

"Mother has never been 'rated' but once," he said to an old soldier. "and then she was rated 'irregular.' She has never been prompt in her ways, but now, she says herself, she never goes upon journeys because the trains won't wait for her. Usually we get around it by telling her that an affair begins an hour carlier than it does, but to day we thought you would be late, and so we gave the right time.'

At this point in the Colonel's chaffing apology

Mrs. Grant appeared with Mrs. Col. Grant and Mrs. Dent, and the visitors were presented. After the presentations the company broke out singing "The Sweet By and By," and a prayer was offered by one of the clergymen. A collation of ice-cream, strawberries and cake followed the more serious proceedings, and by 7 o'clock the visitors had all departed, four out of five with the assurance that the occasion, and Mrs. Col. Grant in particular, they would never forget. Mrs. Gen. Grant was looking very well, and as though in good spirits. She were a plain black satin gown, on demi-train. Her iron-gray hair was dressed high, with two parrow tortoise shell combs run through it, and at team for the last week has restored it to public her throat was a miniature portrait of the Genfavor, and, now that it is getting in good shape | eral, set in brilliants. She carried a fan and wore black lace mitts. Mrs. Col. Grant was delightful in a gown of dead raspberry color, with steel ornaments in her jet-black hair. State League.

Opening of the Centennial Assembly-Rev. C.

L. Thempson Chosen Moderator. PHILADELPHIA, May 17 .- The centennial meeting of the Presbyterian General Assembly, the supreme ecclesiastical court of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, began in this city this morning. There are over 500 delegates or commissioners in attendance, representing every State and Territory in the Union. Prominent among the visiting members are the Rev. J. T. Smith, D. D., of Baltimore, the retiring moderator; Rev. Dr. Hopkins, of Colorado; Rev. W. H. Roberts, D. D., of Cincinnati; Rev. Dr. Howard Crosby, of New York; Rev. Dr. James McCosh, ex-president of Princeton College; Rev. W. E. Moore, D. D., of Columbus, Ohio; Rev. Dr. Tuttle, of Indiana: Rev. Henry M. Vandyke, of New York; Rev. John M. Morrill, of New York; Rev. Dr. Herrick Johnson, of the Theological Seminary at Chicago; Rev. George P. Ayers, who was moderator two years ago; Rev. John R. Paxton, of New York, who enjoys the distinction of preaching to the richest congregation in the world, among whom is Jay Gould; and several score of others of the most distinguished elergymen of the Presbyterian denomination in America. Governor Beaver and ex-Supreme Justice Strong are among the notable lay delegates.

As early as 9 c'clock this morning the delegates began to assemble in Horticultural Hall, and Broad street in that neighborhood present ed a spectacle of the greatest animation. By 10 o'clock the hall was crowded with attending commissioners, who soon after formed in procession by State delegations and marched in double file to the venerable First Presbyterian Church, the oldest of the denomination in the city, at the corper of Seventh and Locust streets. The route of the procession, which was nearly three blocks long, was lined with curious and interested spectators, and from the windows of some of the houses along the way fluttered gay bunting and other symbols of greeting. Arrived at the church, the delegates occupied seats railed off for them. A dense crowd of people surrounded the ancient structure. As many of these as could gain admittance quickly crowded the building to its utmost capacity, while hundreds were turned away. After religious exercises came the opening address of the moderator, Rev. Dr. Smith. It comprised an exhaustive sketch of the rise and growth of the Presbyterian Church, and referred particularly to the organization of the first presbytery, the first synod and the first general assembly in this city. It was an auspicious omen, as said, that this centenary occasion, the era of reunion and peace, should be held amid the surroundings of brotherly love, fraternal feeling and liberty of conscience and action, with which the name of Philadelphia is inseparably linked.

After prayer, the morning devotions closed with the benediction. The first business session of the assembly was called to order at haif sion of the assembly was called to order at haif

M., and when it reassembled proceeded to the election of a moderator, which resulted in the choice of Rev. Dr. Charles L. Thompson, of Kansas City. He was inducted into office and the convention adjourned till to-morrow.

Southern Presbyterians.

BALTIMORE, May 17 .- The General Assembly of the Southern Presbyterian Church met in Franklin-street Church, this city, at 10 o'clock to-day. A sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. Strickler, of Atlanta, the retiring moderator. At the close of the religious service, Rev. Drs. J. J. Bullock, of Washington, S. A. King, of central Texas, and J. B. Graham, of Winchester, were put in nomination for moderator. Dr. Bullock received a majority of all the votes cast and was declared elected. He acknowledged the compliment in a short speech. Rev. Drs. F. M. Monroe, of Ouachita, and R. P. Farris, of St. Louis, were elected elerks, after which the assembly took a recess until 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Nominations for moderator being in order, the Rev. J. J. Bullock, of Washington, Rev. S. A. King, of central Texas, and Rev. J. R. Graham, of Winchester, Va., were named. Rev. Dr. King and Rev. Dr. Graham asked permission to withdraw their names, but their request was re-fused. The vote was taken and resulted: Bul-lock, 78; King, 24; Graham, 26. Mr. Bullock theu took the chair. Rev. E. Monroe, of Arkansas, and S. P. Dendy were elected secretaries.

THE METHODISTS.

Debate on Changes in the Discipline-Five New Bishops To Be Selected.

New York, May 17 .- The active work of the fifteenth day of the General Methodist Conference began with the report of the judiciary committee on certain questions referred to it touching the organic law of the church. Bishop Foss presided, and the devotional exercises were led by Rev. J. O. Peck, of Brooklyn. The presentation of the judiciary report preceded the order of the day-the call of conferences-by general consent. This report was in answer to several questions referred to the committee on changes in the Discipline. The first question was: "May the Discipline be so changed as to authorize the election of presiding elders at the annual conferences?" To this the committee answered "no," as such a proceeding would be a violation of the third restrictive rule, which leaves such matters solely in the hands of the bishop.

Question second was: "May the Discipline be so changed as to give the presiding elders coordinate authority with the bishops in fixing the appointment of preachers?" "No," was the answer to this question also, as the appointing of preachers rested solely with the bishops themselves. The third question referred to the tenure of the bishop's office. It was: "Can the term of office of a bishop be restricted to a term of years?" and was also answered negative, as the law church makes the office of life-long tenure. The fourth inquiry was: "Cannot the bishops be assigned quadrennially to their episcopal districts?" This was also denied, on the ground that episcopacy is general. The committee was unanimous on all these points, except the third, relating to the tenure of the bishop's office, and a minority report, signed by Eii F. Ritter, M. B. Reese, John Lacey, W. S. Speare and L. C. Queal, was pre-sented. This report dissented from the views of the majority on the question, on the ground that the third restrictive rule carefully guards the office of the episcopacy and its prerogatives, but does not touch the tenure of office. The dissenters held, therefora, that it is competent for the General Conference to fix such a limit to the bishop's official term as in its wisdom may

For a moment it looked as if these reports would agitate the house for a considerable time, but Dr. Buckley, by a pointed speech, succeeded in getting both reports tabled. He held that, as the conference had decided that no speeches over five minutes would be allowed, the matter could not be thoroughly considered in so few minutes. His speech and the decision to lay on the table were received with applause.

On motion of Dr. Swindell, of Philadelphia, it was decided to have the committee on episco pacy report on Saturday morning a plan of dis-tricting and electing missionary bishops. Dr. Queal, of Central New York, then asked permission to call the attention of the conference to what he called a great event-the banishment of slavery in Brazil. Permission was refused, and then he moved to have the rules suspended in order to move a resolution referring the matter to a special committee to ex-press the joy and gratitude of the conference on this event, in which he succeeded, amid great

After much discussion it was resolved to receive no more petitions or memorials after May

A resolution was also read asking that the committee on episcopacy may not make any recommendation for the appointment of a miselonary bishop for Europe. In support of the resolution, Dr. A. S. Hord, of the German Conference, made a short address.

Then followed a heated discussion of the subject of election of bishops. This was brought about by a report submitted by the episcopacy committee recommending that five be the number of bishops to be voted for at the forthcoming Dr. Olin presented the report as chairman of the committee. In an instant twenty members were on their feet, clamoring for recognition from the chair. Dr. Lanahan offered an amendment to the mmittee's resolution, substituting four for five as the number.

Dr. Spence moved to substitute seven. Dr. Jackson, of Ohio, moved to substitute six for the number originally named.

Dr. Wheeler said that four bishops were snough, as they were not wanted for exhibition purposes, nor to open camp-meetings, but to exercise a general superintendency of the church work

Dr. Buckley was also heard in favor of the original number. The bishops themselves, he said, only asked for four.

Dr. Bridgman interrupted the debate by moving the previous question, which, on being put, resulted in the adoption of the original report by more than a two-thirds vote.

The remaining time of the day's session was given up to completing the memorial services begun yesterday.

Twentieth Annual Convention of the Montgomery County Sunday-School Union. Special to the Indiapapolis Journal CRAWFORNSVILLE, May 17 .- The zwentieth annual convention of the Muntgomery County Sunday-school Union convened at Center Church, in this city. The session was opened with devotional exercises, conducted by Rev. E. B. Thomson. "Music in the Sunday-school" was discussed by Professor Rellison, Rev. Mr. Thomson, L. J. Coppage and D. C. Barnhill. W. T. Whittington made an address upon "The Sunday-school and the State." Rev. G. P. Fuson conducted the devotional exercises in afternoon, and this was followed by an address by Prof. T. H. Dunn on "Cless Exercises." J. M. Macy read an essay upon "The Adult Class," and James A. Mount, of Shannondale, made an address on "Sowing and Reaping.". The evening session was devoted to the children, who sang songs, gave recitations, and made declamations. This session was under the charge of Prof. A. L. Moore. The report showed that there are seventy-five schools in the county, a gain of fifteen over the report of last year. W. B. Herod, who has been president of the Union for two years, declined to serve further as such, and the following were the new officers elected to serve during the coming year: President, L. J. Coppage; secretary and treasurer, T. N. Myers. Vice-presidents were also chosen for each township. W. B. Herod was commended by the convention for his zeal and thorough work in the Sunday-school cause during the two years he has been the president. The treasurer's report showed a balance on hand of $6. A collection of $3.03 was taken up, and Rev. E. R. Johnson reported a collection of $2.50 from the quarterly conference at Kirk-patrick. A total of $19.50 was reported as paid in by the townships, and, after deducting $2 for the expenses of programmes, the balance was ordered forwarded to Charles Meigs, of Indian-

Binford, Carthage, "Methods of Bible Study;" Anna M. Townsend, Fountain City, "Archæology and the Bible," and Cyrus Hodgin, Earlham College, "Bible Geography and History." The discussions were often spirited, and always entertaining and instructive.

The Baptist Convention. WASHINGTON, May 17 .- The discussion of the constitution of the proposed American Baptist Education Society was resumed by the Baptist convention this morning, with Hon. L. B. Ely, of Missouri, in the chair. After an unimportant amendment had been made, the constitu-tion, as presented yesterday, was adopted by nearly a unanimous vote. A committee on nomination of permanent of-ficers was then appointed, after which the so-ciety adjourned, subject to the call of the com-

Immediately on the adjournment of the education convention the American Baptist Home Mission Society resumed its sessions, Samuel Colgate, of New Jersey, presiding. Rev. Dr. Henson, of Illinois, presented a resolution, which was unanimously adopted, earnestly protesting to Congress against the threat-ened repeal of the law forbidding admission of obscene matter to the United States mails. Anthony Comstock then addressed the society.

Episcopal Diocese of Louisville. Louisville, Ky., May 17 .- The sixtieth annual council of the Protestant Episcopal Church, diocese of Louisvile, convened here yesterday, has been in session to-day, and will continue till Sunday. Bishop Dudley's report shows 564 communicants confirmed on sixty-six occasions. A favorable showing for Trinity Hall school, established last fall, was given. The church is shown to be growing throughout the State, but only 6,000 members are enumerated for Wantacker and States. ated for Kentucky, and half of these are in the ten churches of Louisville. To-night a discussion arose over the high church tendencies of Father Betts, of Grace Church, turning upon the position of certain articles of furniture in the chancel. The discussion will continue to-

LABOR AND INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Philadelphia Record. At Cincinnati, recently, the carriage-ma kers formed a national trades district of the Knights of Labor. The Holyoke (Mass.) paper-mills nearly all do writing paper and book-paper work. The rag-picking women get from 17 to 25 cents per 100 pounds, or about $1 per day. Skilled machine-tenders get $3 to $3.50 per day; engine-room men, $2.50 to $3 per day, and beater men, $1.25

A New York city tenant made a verbal agree-ment with his landlord that he should have the house for another year. Afterward the house was sold, and the new landlord brought suit to compel the tenant to leave. The jury was composed of twelve landlords worth over $50,000 each, and they decided in favor of the tenant. The output of the Birmingham (Eng.) pin-mills is 30,000,000 a day. Other factories in that country have a capacity of 17,000,000 pins per day. France turns out about 20,000,000 a day, and Holland and Germany 10,000,000 each. The pin-machines cut the wire to pin size, head, point, polish, sort and stick them in the papers. The packers and pailers in the Minneapolis mills are organizing. In nearly all the mills the first-class nailers receive $1.75 a day, second-end pailers $2 and packers $2.50. The men are making an effort to have $2 paid to nailers and $2.50 a day for packers. Some of the firms have granted the request. The firms have notified the Operative Millers' Association that they will shut down on the day fixed for the annual excur-

LABOR MEN ON MR. SCOTT. He Owns Coal Mines and Pays the Lowest Wages Paid in Pennsylvania. Pittsburg Special.

Labor leaders, workmen generally, and even employers, in this section of the country, where William L. Scott is so well known, turn their noses up in disgust at his bolier than thou attitude on the tariff in the House yesterday.

Said John Flannery, editor of the Trades
Journal, and ex-secretary of the Miners' Association, to-day: "The operators fear him not only because he pays less wages to his miners, but because he runs a large 'pluck me' store.
The miners are compelled to deal there if they want to retain their situations. Other coal operators pay cash for mining.

"Scott pays 5 cents per ton less than any other operator in the Pittsburg district or along the line of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. He has always proven himself an enemy of labor organizations. Scott Haven, where the Congressman's mines are located principally, is known all over the State as the place where the poorest wages are paid, and where the men never have any cash."

John Jarrett, after reading Scott's speech, said: "Mr. Scott is entirely in error in stating that the average seiling price of rails for 1887 was $37.50. The average was $34.24. Then the labor cost submitted by Mr. Scott is only a part of the total, as his figures covered only the converting, blooming and part of the finishing de-

"This being the case his whole argument amoutes to nothing. He says there is but fifty per cent. difference between wages in England and the United States, whoreas there is over 100 per cent. difference. His estimate of the average cost of producing a ton of steel rails at Carnegie's during 1887 is several dollars too low to my actual knowlede. His figures on structural iron and steel beams are still more flighty, and his argument upon the profits of these beams is ridiculous.

"Why didn't he give his own experience of 1882, when he refused to pay reasonable wages to his iron-workers because the profits were too low? He forgets also to say anything about his profits as a coal operator. Then all through his statements are vacue and wild and can be readily disposed of by figures within the reach
